

SEAUK

Essay Competition 2022

Essay Title

Medical students

“Should undergraduate teaching dedicate modules to professionalism?”

Anaesthesia Trainees

“80% Less Than Full Time Training (LTFT) should be the new normal. How will this affect the future workforce?”

- Entries are now invited on the above essay titles from medical students and anaesthesia trainees (CT1-ST7).
- Only one author per entry will be accepted.
- All entries will be anonymised and judged by members of the SEA UK committee. The judging panel looks for well-written entries that demonstrate critical thinking and reflective practice.
- Maximum 1200 words (excluding title and references). Please use Times New Roman size 12 font and double line spacing.
- Maximum five references can be cited using Vancouver style. References must be numbered sequentially as they appear in the text.
- Please send your submissions to the SEAUK secretary at secretary@seauk.org with a copy to SEAUK Administrator at administrator@seauk.org as a Word document.
- Voucher prizes of £50 will be awarded to the winning essays.
- Winners will also receive complimentary registration to the 2023 SEA UK Annual Scientific meeting.
- The winning essay will be published in the SEAUK Winter Newsletter.
- Any further queries should be emailed to secretary@seauk.org.

Deadline for submission: Midnight on Friday 30th September 2022.